LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

One of the hallmarks of Princeton's history list is "field defining," major new histories. They are on full display here in the 2018 History catalog.

Our lead title this Fall is Yuri Slezkine's extraordinary and monumental House of Government: A Saga of the Russian Revolution. One reviewer in the London Review of Books has rightfully called it "a Soviet War and Peace." The book tells the chilling story of how the building's residents lived in their apartments and ruled the Soviet state until some eight hundred of them were evicted from the House and led, one by one, to prison or to their deaths. James McAdam's Vanguard of the Revolution: The Global Idea of the Communist Party provides the origins and evolution of the communist idea on a global scale and is the perfect companion for Slezkine's book.

I'm proud to make available in English, for the first time, Jürgen Osterhammel's Unfabling the East: The Enlightenment's Encounter with Asia, which brings the sights and sounds of this tumultuous age vividly to life and demonstrates how Europe discovered its own identity anew by measuring itself against the great civilizations of the East, from the Ottoman Empire and India to China and Japan.

Two books in Middle Eastern history on our list will help explain that part of the world: Michael Brenner's In Search of Israel: The History of an Idea and Fawaz Gerges' Making the Arab World: Nasser, Qutb, and the Clash That Shaped the Middle East.

One of my favorite books in U.S. history is David Hollinger's Protestants Abroad: How Missionaries Tried to Change the World but Changed America, the untold story of how American Protestant missionaries left an enduring mark on American public life as writers, diplomats, academics, church officials, publishers, foundation executives, and social activists.

In history of science, you will want to check out Theodore Porter's Genetics in the Madhouse: The Unknown History of Human Heredity, which tells the unknown story of how the collection and sorting of hereditary data in mental hospitals gave rise to the new science of human heredity.

Konrad Jarausch's Broken Lives: How Ordinary Germans Experienced The 20th Century is a gripping, bottom up account of Germans who came of age under Hitler and who lived through World War II, the Holocaust, and Cold War partition—but also recovery, rehabilitation, and reunification.

Finally, for anybody who wants to know or teach about Human Rights and its relevance for our future, I heartily recommend Kathryn Sikkink's Evidence for Hope: Making Human Rights Work in the 21st Century.

These are just some of the highlights of this year's offerings. I would like to thank all of our authors and readers who contributed to an extraordinarily successful year for Princeton. Here is to an exciting 2018!

History Publisher and Director of Global Development

“An utterly gripping masterwork.”
—Simon Sebag Montefiore, author of Stalin: The Court of the Red Tsar

“Brilliant and suitably monumental.”
—David Priestland, Financial Times

“A Soviet War and Peace.”
—Sheila Fitzpatrick, London Review of Books

The House of Government A Saga of the Russian Revolution

The House of Government is unlike any other book about the Russian Revolution and the Soviet experiment. Written in the tradition of Tolstoy’s War and Peace, Grossman’s Life and Fate, and Solzhenitsyn’s The Gulag Archipelago, Yuri Slezkine’s gripping narrative tells the true story of the residents of an enormous Moscow apartment building where top Communist officials and their families lived before they were destroyed in Stalin’s purges. A vivid account of the personal and public lives of Bolshevik true believers, the book begins with their conversion to Communism and ends with their children’s loss of faith and the fall of the Soviet Union.

Completed in 1931, the House of Government, later known as the House on the Embankment, was located across the Moscow River from the Kremlin. The largest residential building in Europe, it combined 505 furnished apartments with public spaces that included everything from a movie theater and a library to a tennis court and a shooting range. Slezkine tells the chilling story of how the building’s residents lived in their apartments and ruled the Soviet state until some eight hundred of them were evicted from the House and led, one by one, to prison or their deaths.

Drawing on letters, diaries, and interviews, and featuring hundreds of rare photographs, The House of Government weaves together biography, literary criticism, architectural history, and fascinating new theories of revolutions, millennial prophecies, and reigns of terror. The result is an unforgettable human saga of a building that, like the Soviet Union itself, became a haunted house, forever disturbed by the ghosts of the disappeared.

YURI SLEZKINE is the Jane K. Sather Professor of History at the University of California, Berkeley. His books include The Jewish Century (Princeton), which won the National Jewish Book Award.

“Osterhammel defends the Enlightenment from the charge of Eurocentrism and portrays in sparkling detail its humane legacy of self-criticism and communication with other cultures.”
 —Harry Liebersohn, author of The Travelers’ World

Unfabling the East
The Enlightenment’s Encounter with Asia

During the long eighteenth century, Europe’s travelers, scholars, and intellectuals looked to Asia in a spirit of puzzlement, irony, and openness. In this panoramic and colorful book, Jürgen Osterhammel tells the story of the European Enlightenment’s nuanced encounter with the great civilizations of the East, from the Ottoman Empire and India to China and Japan.

JÜRGEN OSTERHAMMEL is professor of modern and contemporary history at the University of Konstanz.

“Important and original. Drawing on a wealth of archival research in many languages across many different national settings, Porter reexamines the role of psychiatry in the study of human heredity. Genetics in the Madhouse is an enormously impressive book.”
 —Andrew Scull, author of Madness in Civilization

Genetics in the Madhouse
The Unknown History of Human Heredity

In the early 1800s, a century before there was any concept of the gene, physicians in insane asylums began to record causes of madness in their admission books. Almost from the beginning, they pointed to heredity as the most important of these causes. Doctors and state officials became obsessed with identifying weak or tainted families and anticipating the outcomes of their marriages. Genetics in the Madhouse is the untold story of how the collection and sorting of hereditary data in mental hospitals, schools for “feeble-minded” children, and prisons gave rise to a new science of human heredity.

THEODORE M. PORTER is Distinguished Professor of History and holds the Peter Reill Chair at the University of California, Los Angeles.

“Jarausch illuminates the possibilities of history and consciousness through the testimony of dozens of Germans who struggled to make sense of their lives and the times they lived in. A very moving account of twentieth-century German history.”

—Peter Fritzsche, author of An Iron Wind

Broken Lives

How Ordinary Germans Experienced the 20th Century

Broken Lives is a gripping account of the twentieth century as seen through the eyes of ordinary Germans who came of age under Hitler and whose lives were scarred and sometimes destroyed by what they saw and did.

KONRAD H. JARAUSCH is the Lurcy Professor of European Civilization at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

“McAdams not only provides a fascinating and detailed history of the evolution of communism among its most prominent practitioners, he shows us why so many have fought and died for it despite the ideological persecution and economic disaster wrought in its name. A terrific read.”

—Lowell Dittmer, University of California, Berkeley

Vanguard of the Revolution

The Global Idea of the Communist Party

The communist party was a revolutionary idea long before its supporters came to power. In this book, A. James McAdams argues that the rise and fall of communism can be understood only by taking into account the origins and evolution of this compelling idea. He shows how the leaders of parties in countries as diverse as the Soviet Union, China, Germany, Yugoslavia, Cuba, and North Korea adapted the original ideas of Marx and Lenin to profoundly different social and cultural settings.

A. JAMES MCADAMS is the William M. Scholl Professor of International Affairs and director of the Nanovic Institute for European Studies at the University of Notre Dame.

“Michael Brenner is one of the leading authorities on the history of Zionism in the twentieth century, and this book is a must-read for everyone who is interested in the subject.”

—Walter Laqueur, author of A History of Zionism

In Search of Israel The History of an Idea

Many Zionists who advocated the creation of a Jewish state envisioned a nation like any other. Yet for Israel’s founders, the state that emerged against all odds in 1948 was anything but ordinary. Born from the ashes of genocide and a long history of suffering, Israel was conceived to be unique, a model society and the heart of a prosperous new Middle East. It is this paradox, says historian Michael Brenner, that shapes Israel’s ongoing struggle to define itself and secure a place among nations.

MICHAEL BRENNER is the Seymour and Lilian Abensohn Chair in Israel Studies and director of the Center for Israel Studies at American University and Professor of Jewish History and Culture at Ludwig Maximilian University in Munich.

“A major achievement, this impeccably researched book contributes significantly to our understanding of Arab and Islamic politics, supplementing and correcting much of it.”

—James Piscatori, Australian National University

Making the Arab World Nasser, Qutb, and the Clash That Shaped the Middle East

In Making the Arab World, Fawaz Gerger, one of the world’s leading authorities on the Middle East, tells how the clash between pan-Arab nationalism and pan-Islamism has shaped the history of the region from the 1920s to the present.

FAWAZ A. GERGES is professor of international relations and Emirates Chair in Contemporary Middle East Studies at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

 Human Rights and Crimes against Humanity
 Eric D. Weitz, Series Editor

“A fascinating and vitally important book for anyone interested in freedom around the world and how we can expand it. Kathryn Sikkink’s portrait of human rights today is optimistic in the best sense—motivated not by a temperament that sees the glass as half full, but by a judicious look at the facts and a keen analytic eye.”

—Steven Pinker, author of The Better Angels of Our Nature

Evidence for Hope
Making Human Rights Work in the 21st Century

Exploring the strategies that have led to real humanitarian gains since the middle of the twentieth century, Evidence for Hope looks at how these essential advances can be supported and sustained for decades to come.

KATHRYN SIKKINK is the Ryan Family Professor of Human Rights Policy at the Harvard Kennedy School of Government, and the Carol K. Pforzheimer Professor at the Radcliffe Institute for Advanced Study.

 America in the World
 Sven Beckert and Jeremi Suri, Series Editors

“Hopkins has written a remarkable, learned work. . . . American Empire is likely to become a standard book in U.S. and world history.”

—Ian Tyrrell, author of Crisis of the Wasteful Nation

American Empire
A Global History

American Empire is a panoramic work of scholarship that presents a bold new global perspective on the history of the United States. Drawing on his expertise in economic history and the imperial histories of Britain and Europe, A. G. Hopkins takes readers from the colonial era to today to show how, far from diverging, the United States and Western Europe followed similar trajectories throughout this long period, and how America’s dependency on Britain and Europe extended much later into the nineteenth century than previously understood.

A. G. HOPKINS is Emeritus Smuts Professor of Commonwealth History at the University of Cambridge and former Walter Prescott Webb Chair in History at the University of Texas at Austin.

 The Princeton History of the Ancient World

“Kyle Harper is a Gibbon for the twenty-first century. In this very important book, he reveals the great lesson that the decline and fall of the Roman Empire can teach our own age: that humanity can manipulate nature, but never defeat it. Sic transit gloria mundi.”

—Ian Morris, author of Why the West Rules—for Now

The Fate of Rome

Climate, Disease, and the End of an Empire

Here is the monumental retelling of one of the most consequential chapters of human history: the fall of the Roman Empire. The Fate of Rome is the first book to examine the catastrophic role that climate change and infectious diseases played in the collapse of Rome’s power—a story of nature’s triumph over human ambition.

KYLE HARPER is professor of classics and letters and senior vice president and provost at the University of Oklahoma. He is the author of Slavery in the Late Roman World, AD 275–425 and From Shame to Sin.

2017. 768 pages. 23 halftones.
 Cl: 978-0-691-17660-4 $39.95 | £32.95

“With a sweep that brings black emancipation, the expropriation of native populations, and revolutions on three continents into a worldwide panorama, The Expanding Blaze illuminates a past that we only thought we knew. This is the Revolution as America’s founders and their far-flung successors experienced it.”

—Matthew Stewart, author of Nature’s God

The Expanding Blaze

How the American Revolution Ignited the World, 1775–1848

The Expanding Blaze is a sweeping history of how the American Revolution inspired revolutions throughout Europe and the Atlantic world in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The first major new intellectual history of the age of democratic revolution in decades, The Expanding Blaze returns the American Revolution to its global context.

JONATHAN ISRAEL is professor emeritus of modern history at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton. His many books include Revolutionary Ideas and A Revolution of the Mind (both Princeton).

“The Burr Conspiracy offers a dazzling portrait of the new nation in the grip of a profound existential crisis, and a mirror for our own critical times.”
—Peter S. Onuf, coauthor of “Most Blessed of the Patriarchs”

The Burr Conspiracy Uncovering the Story of an Early American Crisis

In 1805 and 1806, Aaron Burr, former vice president of the newly formed American republic, traveled through the Trans-Appalachian West gathering support for a mysterious enterprise, for which he was arrested and tried for treason in 1807. This book explores the political and cultural forces that shaped how Americans made sense of the uncertain rumors and reports about Burr’s intentions and movements, and examines what the resulting crisis reveals about Americans’ anxieties concerning the new nation’s fragile union and uncertain republic.

JAMES E. LEWIS JR. is professor of history at Kalamazoo College.

The Princeton History of Christianity

“Stanley’s excellent book makes an original contribution to the history of modern Christianity. This is a fine piece of work from a master historian. It will stand the test of time.”
—Dana L. Robert, author of Christian Mission: How Christianity Became a World Religion

Christianity in the Twentieth Century A World History

Christianity in the Twentieth Century charts the transformation of one of the world’s great religions during an age marked by world wars, genocide, nationalism, decolonization, and powerful ideological currents, many of them hostile to Christianity. Written by a leading scholar of world Christianity, the book traces how Christianity evolved from a religion defined by the culture and politics of Europe to the expanding polycentric and multicultural faith it is today—one whose growing popular support is strongest in sub-Saharan Africa, Latin America, China, and other parts of Asia.

BRIAN STANLEY is professor of world Christianity at the University of Edinburgh.

 The Lawrence Stone Lectures

“In this broad and brilliant book, Cooper examines a politically burning issue and impressively shows that from the early Roman Empire onward, the solidarity of citizenship has always coexisted with social hierarchy and political oligarchy.”

—Andreas Eckert, Humboldt University of Berlin

Citizenship, Inequality, and Difference

Historical Perspectives

Citizenship, Inequality, and Difference offers a concise and sweeping overview of citizenship’s complex evolution, from ancient Rome to the present. Political leaders and thinkers still debate, as they did in Republican Rome, whether the presumed equivalence of citizens is compatible with cultural diversity and economic inequality. Frederick Cooper presents citizenship as “claim-making”—the assertion of rights in a political entity.

FREDERICK COOPER is professor of history at New York University.

March 2018. 240 pages. 3 maps.
 Cl: 978-0-691-16144-0 $29.95 | £24.95

“Sabato offers a powerful antidote to what endures as the static image of nineteenth-century Latin America as a land of caudillos and authoritarianism, political apathy and backwardness.”

—Erika Pani, Colegio de México

Republics of the New World

The Revolutionary Political Experiment in Nineteenth-Century Latin America

By the 1820s, after three centuries under imperial rule, the former Spanish territories of Latin America had shaken off their colonial bonds and founded independent republics. In committing themselves to republicanism, they embarked on a political experiment of an unprecedented scale outside the newly formed United States. In this book, Hilda Sabato provides a sweeping history of republicanism in nineteenth-century Latin America, one that spans the entire region and places the Spanish American experience within a broader global perspective.

HILDA SABATO is head researcher at the National Scientific and Technical Research Council (CONICET) in Argentina and former professor of history at the University of Buenos Aires.

August 2018. 216 pages.
Cl: 978-0-691-17161-6 $27.95 | £22.95

“Breathtaking in its range and ambition, this is a wonderful and provocative book about the concept of race. Schaub’s command of the scholarship is impressive. . . . I believe this book should be widely read and discussed.”

—Stuart B. Schwartz, Yale University

Race Is about Politics Lessons from History

Racial divisions have returned to the forefront of politics in the United States and European societies, making it more important than ever to understand race and racism. But do we? In this original and provocative book, acclaimed historian Jean-Frédéric Schaub shows that we don’t—and that we need to rethink the widespread assumption that racism is essentially a modern form of discrimination based on skin color and other visible differences.

JEAN-FRÉDÉRIC SCHAUB teaches at the School for Advanced Studies in the Humanities and Social Sciences (EHESS) in Paris. He also holds a Global Distinguished Professorship in the History Department of New York University.

2017. 272 pages.
Cl: 978-0-691-16521-9 $27.95 | £22.95

“Jansen and Osterhammel’s Decolonization will quickly establish itself as the most penetrating, thoughtful, balanced, and comprehensive short history of decolonization and its consequences. A major contribution to the existing literature.”

—John Darwin, University of Oxford

Decolonization A Short History

The end of colonial rule in Asia, Africa, and the Caribbean was one of the most important and dramatic developments of the twentieth century. In the decades after World War II, dozens of new states emerged as actors in global politics. Long-established imperial regimes collapsed, some more or less peacefully, others amid mass violence. This book takes an incisive look at decolonization and its long-term consequences, revealing it to be a coherent yet multidimensional process at the heart of modern history.

JAN C. JANSEN is a research fellow at the German Historical Institute in Washington, DC. JÜRGEN OSTERHAMMEL is professor of modern and contemporary history at the University of Konstanz.

2017. 512 pages. 32 halftones. 17 tables. 17 maps.

“Examining centuries of digging and plowing in rural communities around Mexico City, Tutino once again confirms his stature as a scholar who can capture the whole of social relations in the smallest detail of daily life. A tour de force.”

—Greg Grandin, author of The Empire of Necessity, Fordlandia, and The Last Colonial Massacre

The Mexican Heartland
How Communities Shaped Capitalism, a Nation, and World History, 1500–2000

The Mexican Heartland provides a new history of capitalism from the perspective of the landed communities surrounding Mexico City. In a sweeping analytical narrative spanning the sixteenth century to today, John Tutino challenges our basic assumptions about the forces that shaped global capitalism—setting families and communities at the center of histories that transformed the world.

JOHN TUTINO is professor of history and international affairs and director of the Americas Initiative at Georgetown University.

2017. 600 pages. 33 halftones. 9 maps.
 Cl: 978-0-691-15363-6 $39.50 | £32.95

“In this extraordinary volume, Krishan Kumar provides us with a brilliant tour of some of history’s most important empires, demonstrating the critical importance of imperial ideas and ideologies for understanding their modalities of rule and the conflicts that beset them.”

—Mark R. Beissinger, Princeton University

Visions of Empire
How Five Imperial Regimes Shaped the World

The empires of the past were far-flung experiments in multinationalism and multiculturalism, and have much to teach us about navigating our own increasingly globalized and interconnected world. Until now, most recent scholarship on empires has focused on their subject peoples. Visions of Empire looks at their rulers, shedding critical new light on who they were, how they justified their empires, how they viewed themselves, and the styles of rule they adopted toward their subjects.

KRISHAN KUMAR is University Professor and William R. Kenan, Jr., Professor of Sociology at the University of Virginia.

March 2018. 336 pages.

“By far the most comprehensive history of a critical turning point in modern international diplomacy.”
—Thomas Borstelmann, author of The 1970s: A New Global History from Civil Rights to Economic Inequality

The Final Act

The Helsinki Accords and the Transformation of the Cold War

The Helsinki Final Act was a watershed of the Cold War. Signed by thirty-five European and North American leaders at a summit in Finland in the summer of 1975, the agreement presented a vision for peace based on common principles and cooperation across the Iron Curtain. The Final Act is the first in-depth account of the diplomatic saga that produced this historic agreement.

“A model of border-crossing scholarship, Agrarian Crossings brilliantly illuminates the deep interconnections between US and Mexican history. Neither the New Deal nor Mexican agrarian reform will ever look the same again.”

—Karl Jacoby, Columbia University

Agrarian Crossings

Reformers and the Remaking of the US and Mexican Countryside

In the 1930s and 1940s, rural reformers in the United States and Mexico waged unprecedented campaigns to remake their countrysides in the name of agrarian justice and agricultural productivity. Agrarian Crossings tells the story of how these campaigns were conducted in dialogue with one another as reformers in each nation came to exchange models, plans, and strategies with their equivalents across the border.

“One of those rare books that slices American society in a way that hardly anyone—certainly no one of Hollinger’s intellectual breadth—has thought to cut the cake before.”

—Adam Hochschild, author of Spain in Our Hearts

Protestants Abroad
How Missionaries Tried to Change the World but Changed America

Between the 1890s and the Vietnam era, many thousands of American Protestant missionaries were sent to live throughout the non-European world. They expected to change the people they encountered, but those foreign people ended up transforming the missionaries. Protestants Abroad reveals the untold story of how these missionary-connected individuals left an enduring mark on American public life as writers, diplomats, academics, church officials, publishers, foundation executives, and social activists.

“A brilliant reconstruction of the battle over Dodger Stadium, City of Dreams is a vivid and indispensable story about baseball and the making of modern urban America.”

—Gary Gerstle, author of Liberty and Coercion

City of Dreams
Dodger Stadium and the Birth of Modern Los Angeles

When Walter O’Malley moved his Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles in 1957 with plans to construct a new ballpark next to downtown, he ignited a bitter argument over the future of a rapidly changing city. For the first time, City of Dreams tells the full story of the controversial building of Dodger Stadium—and how it helped create modern Los Angeles by transforming its downtown into a vibrant cultural and entertainment center.

JERALD PODAIR is professor of history and the Robert S. French Professor of American Studies at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wisconsin. He is the author of The Strike That Changed New York and Bayard Rustin: American Dreamer.

“[Isenberg’s] fascinating book is essential reading for anyone interested in the politics of architecture, landscape architecture, and urban design.”

—Dolores Hayden, Yale University, author of The Power of Place: Urban Landscapes as Public History

Designing San Francisco
Art, Land, and Urban Renewal
in the City by the Bay

Designing San Francisco is the untold story of the formative postwar decades when U.S. cities took their modern shape amid clashing visions of the future. In this pathbreaking and richly illustrated book, Alison Isenberg shifts the focus from architects and city planners—those most often hailed in histories of urban development and design—to the unsung artists, activists, and others who played pivotal roles in rebuilding San Francisco between the 1940s and the 1970s.

ALISON ISENBERG is professor of history at Princeton University, where she codirects the Princeton-Mellon Initiative in Architecture, Urbanism, and the Humanities.

“A most timely, valuable, and enlightening book. It shows conclusively that Adams was one of the sharpest critics of oligarchy among the American founders and, indeed, in the history of political thought. The book will generate much-needed discussion in political thought, American political studies, and contemporary democratic theory.”

—John McCormick, University of Chicago

John Adams and the Fear of American Oligarchy

Long before “the one percent” became a protest slogan, American founding father John Adams feared the power of a class he called simply “the few”—the wellborn, the beautiful, and especially the rich. In John Adams and the Fear of American Oligarchy, Luke Mayville presents the first extended exploration of Adams’s preoccupation with a problem that has a renewed urgency today: the way in which inequality threatens to corrode democracy and empower a small elite.

LUKE MAYVILLE is a postdoctoral fellow at the Center for American Studies at Columbia University. He is a contributor to Commonweal.

Princeton Studies in American Politics
 Ira Katznelson, Eric Schickler, Martin Shefter, and Theda Skocpol, Series Editors

“Ranging across a wide array of topics and scholarship, this book remaps large parts of American history. In Frymer’s telling, the nation’s territorial expansion emerges as a far more fascinating and perilous journey than we had imagined.”

—Edward L. Ayers, author of the Bancroft Prize-winning In the Presence of Mine Enemies

Building an American Empire The Era of Territorial and Political Expansion

Westward expansion of the United States is most conventionally remembered for rugged individualism, geographic isolationism, and a fair amount of luck. Yet the establishment of the forty-eight contiguous states was hardly a foregone conclusion. This book examines the politics of American expansion, showing how the government’s regulation of population movements on the frontier, both settlement and removal, advanced national aspirations for empire and promoted the formation of a white settler nation.

“Julian Zelizer has assembled a superb collection of essays by the nation’s finest historians of U.S. politics and policymaking. This excellent book immediately takes its place as the indispensable one-volume guide to what Barack Obama accomplished—and failed to accomplish—over the course of eight years.”

—Eric Patashnik, author of Reforms at Risk: What Happens after Major Policy Changes Are Enacted

The Presidency of Barack Obama A First Historical Assessment

Barack Obama’s election as the first African American president seemed to usher in a new era, and he took office in 2009 with great expectations. But by his second term, Republicans controlled Congress, and, after the 2016 presidential election, Obama’s legacy and the health of the Democratic Party itself appeared in doubt. In The Presidency of Barack Obama, Julian Zelizer gathers leading American historians to put President Obama and his administration into political and historical context.

—Patrick Griffin, author of America’s Revolution

Gentlemen Revolutionaries Power and Justice in the New American Republic

In the years between the Revolutionary War and the drafting of the Constitution, American gentlemen—the merchants, lawyers, planters, and landowners who comprised the independent republic’s elite—worked hard to maintain their positions of power. Gentlemen Revolutionaries shows how their struggles over status, hierarchy, property, and control shaped the ideologies and institutions of the fledgling nation.

Fraud An American History from Barnum to Madoff

The United States has always proved an inviting home for boosters, sharp dealers, and outright swindlers. Fraud has been a key feature of American business since its beginnings. In this sweeping narrative, Edward Balleisen traces the history of fraud in America—and the evolving efforts to combat it—from the age of P. T. Barnum through the eras of Charles Ponzi and Bernie Madoff.

“Kohler-Hausmann reveals that get-tough policies were not simply a response to a conservative shift in public opinion, they also helped produce it. This excellent book is a must-read.”

—Cybelle Fox, author of Three Worlds of Relief

Getting Tough Welfare and Imprisonment in 1970s America

In 1970s America, politicians began “getting tough” on drugs, crime, and welfare. These campaigns helped expand the nation’s penal system, discredit welfare programs, and cast blame for the era’s social upheaval on racialized deviants that the state was not accountable to serve or represent. Getting Tough sheds light on how this unprecedented growth of the penal system and the evisceration of the nation’s welfare programs developed hand in hand. Julilly Kohler-Hausmann shows that these historical events were animated by struggles over how to interpret and respond to the inequality and disorder that crested during this period.

“Leffler is a magnificent historian and Safeguarding Democratic Capitalism shows why. Always provocative, never doctrinaire, and often surprising in its lessons, this book is at once brilliantly written and based on the most thorough scholarship.”

—Robert Kagan, author of The World America Made

Safeguarding Democratic Capitalism U.S. Foreign Policy and National Security, 1920–2015

Safeguarding Democratic Capitalism gathers together decades of writing by Melvyn Leffler, one of the most respected historians of American foreign policy, to address important questions about U.S. national security policy from the end of World War I to the global war on terror. An account of the development of U.S. national security policy by one of its most influential thinkers, Safeguarding Democratic Capitalism includes a substantial new introduction from the author.

“Rita Chin’s indispensable and timely book brilliantly analyzes the ideological obfuscation involved in the claim by Western Europeans, on the right and left, that ‘multiculturalism’ has failed. Instead, Chin suggests, it was never really tried.”

—Samuel Moyn, author of Christian Human Rights

The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe A History

From the influx of immigrants in the 1950s to contemporary worries about refugees and terrorism, The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe examines the historical development of multiculturalism on the Continent. Rita Chin argues that there were few efforts to institute state-sponsored policies of multiculturalism, and those that emerged were pronounced failures virtually from their inception. She shows that today’s crisis of support for cultural pluralism isn’t new but actually has its roots in the 1980s.

Sex and Secularism

Joan Wallach Scott’s acclaimed and controversial writings have been foundational for the field of gender history. With Sex and Secularism, Scott challenges one of the central claims of the “clash of civilizations” polemic—the false notion that secularism is a guarantee of gender equality. Sex and Secularism reveals how this idea has been used to justify claims of white, Western, and Christian racial and religious superiority and has served to distract our attention from a persistent set of difficulties related to gender difference—ones shared by Western and non-Western cultures alike.

Talaat Pasha Father of Modern Turkey, Architect of Genocide

Talaat Pasha (1874–1921) led the triumvirate that ruled the late Ottoman Empire during World War I and is arguably the father of modern Turkey. He was also the architect of the Armenian Genocide, which would result in the systematic extermination of more than a million people, and which set the stage for a century that would witness atrocities on a scale never imagined. This is the first biography in English of the revolutionary figure who not only prepared the way for Atatürk and the founding of the republic in 1923 but who shaped the modern world as well.

The Age of Questions Or, A First Attempt at an Aggregate History of the Eastern, Social, Woman, American, Jewish, Polish, Bullion, Tuberculosis, and Many Other Questions over the Nineteenth Century, and Beyond

In the early nineteenth century, a new age began: the age of questions. In the Eastern and Belgian questions, as much as in the slavery, worker, social, woman, and Jewish questions, contemporaries saw not interrogatives to be answered but problems to be solved. The Age of Questions asks how the question form arose, what trajectory it followed, and why it provoked such feverish excitement for over a century.

“This splendid book skillfully reveals the changing nature of religion in the USSR, the limits of secularization under Communism, and the important place of spirituality in the twentieth century. Smolkin exposes the striking irony of how Soviet authorities found themselves trying to replicate the spiritual and emotional offerings of religion even as they sought to destroy it.”

A Sacred Space Is Never Empty A History of Soviet Atheism

When the Bolsheviks set out to build a new world in the wake of the Russian Revolution, they expected religion to die off. Soviet power used a variety of tools—from education to propaganda to terror—to turn its vision of a Communist world without religion into reality. Yet even with its monopoly on ideology and power, the Soviet Communist Party never succeeded in overcoming religion and creating an atheist society.

“This is commodity history at its best. Tea provides a window into a global economy that flourished for many centuries—long before the globalization of our own age.... Rappaport ambitiously takes us from the tea plantation to the metropole and back, capturing a big story in a teacup.”

—Lizabeth Cohen, author of A Consumers' Republic

A Thirst for Empire How Tea Shaped the Modern World

Tea has been one of the most popular commodities in the world. Over centuries, profits from its growth and sales funded wars and fueled colonization, and its cultivation brought about massive changes—in land use, labor systems, market practices, and social hierarchies—the effects of which are with us even today. An expansive and original global history of imperial tea, A Thirst for Empire demonstrates the ways that this fluid and powerful enterprise helped shape the contemporary world.

“In The Happiness Philosophers, Bart Schultz tells the gripping story of the founders of utilitarianism. Far from being prosaic materialists dedicated to calculating pleasure and pain, the utilitarians were passionate humanists and reformers whose ideas offer crucial insights about inequality and suffering. ### The Moral Economists R. H. Tawney, Karl Polanyi, E. P. Thompson, and the Critique of Capitalism

What’s wrong with capitalism? Answers to that question today focus on material inequality. Led by economists and conducted in utilitarian terms, the critique of capitalism in the twenty-first century is primarily concerned with disparities in income and wealth. It was not always so. The Moral Economists reconstructs another critical tradition, developed across the twentieth century in Britain, in which material deprivation was less important than moral or spiritual desolation.

—Geoffrey Wawro, author of A Mad Catastrophe

The Grand Strategy of the Habsburg Empire

The Empire of Habsburg Austria faced more enemies than any other great European power. Flanked on four sides by rivals, it possessed few of the advantages that explain successful empires. Its army was not renowned for offensive prowess, its finances were often shaky, and its populace was fragmented into more than a dozen ethnicities. Yet somehow Austria endured, outlasting Ottoman sieges, Frederick the Great, and Napoleon. The Grand Strategy of the Habsburg Empire tells the story of how this cash-strapped, polyglot empire survived for centuries in Europe’s most dangerous neighborhood without succumbing to the pressures of multisided warfare.

The Mystical Turn in Ottoman Political Thought

The medieval theory of the caliphate, epitomized by the Abbasids (750–1258), was the construct of jurists who conceived it as a contractual leadership of the Muslim community in succession to the Prophet Muhammed’s political authority. In this book, Hüseyin Yılmaz traces how a new conception of the caliphate emerged under the Ottomans, who redefined the caliph as at once a ruler, a spiritual guide, and a lawmaker corresponding to the prophet’s three natures.

The Killing Season

A History of the Indonesian Massacres, 1965–66

The Killing Season explores one of the largest and swiftest, yet least examined, instances of mass killing and incarceration in the twentieth century—the shocking antileftist purge that gripped Indonesia in 1965–66, leaving some five hundred thousand people dead and more than a million others in detention. An expert in modern Indonesian history, genocide, and human rights, Geoffrey Robinson sets out to account for this violence and to end the troubling silence surrounding it. In doing so, he sheds new light on broad and enduring historical questions.

The First Serious Optimist A. C. Pigou and the Birth of Welfare Economics

The First Serious Optimist is an intellectual biography of the British economist A. C. Pigou (1877–1959), a founder of welfare economics and one of the twentieth century’s most important and original thinkers. Though long overshadowed by his intellectual rival John Maynard Keynes, Pigou was instrumental in focusing economics on the public welfare. Ian Kumekawa tells how Pigou reshaped the way the public thinks about the economic role of government and the way economists think about the public good.

A Local History of Global Capital Jute and Peasant Life in the Bengal Delta

Before the advent of synthetic fibers and cargo containers, jute sacks were the preferred packaging material of global trade, transporting the world’s grain, cotton, sugar, tobacco, coffee, wool, guano, and bacon. Jute was the second-most widely consumed fiber in the world, after cotton. While the sack circulated globally, the plant was cultivated almost exclusively by peasant smallholders in a small corner of the world: the Bengal delta. This book examines how jute fibers entangled the delta’s peasantry in the rhythms and vicissitudes of global capital.

The Holy Roman Empire
A Short History

The Holy Roman Empire emerged in the Middle Ages as a loosely integrated union of German states and city-states under the supreme rule of an emperor. Around 1500, it took on a more formal structure with the establishment of powerful institutions—such as the Reichstag and Imperial Chamber Court—that would endure more or less intact until the empire’s dissolution by Napoleon in 1806. Barbara Stollberg-Rilinger provides a concise history of the Holy Roman Empire, presenting an entirely new interpretation of the empire’s political culture and remarkably durable institutions.

BARBARA STOLLBERG-RILINGER is professor and chair of early modern history at the University of Münster in Germany.

“Ambitious, interdisciplinary, and beautifully researched. Jansen makes a compelling case for the centrality of penance and peace in late medieval Italian culture.”

—Carol Lansing, author of Passion and Order

Peace and Penance in Late Medieval Italy

Medieval Italian communes are known for their violence, feuds, and vendettas, yet beneath this tumult was a society preoccupied with peace. Peace and Penance in Late Medieval Italy is the first book to examine how civic peacemaking in the age of Dante was forged in the crucible of penitential religious practice. Breaking new ground in the study of peacemaking in the Middle Ages, Peace and Penance in Late Medieval Italy adds an entirely new dimension to our understanding of Italian culture in this turbulent age.

KATHERINE LUDWIG JANSEN is professor of history at the Catholic University of America. Her books include the award-winning The Making of the Magdalen (Princeton).

“John Blair has a reputation for being one of the most original historians of Anglo-Saxon England, and he amply merits that with this amazing new book. This deft mixture of archaeology, history, and place-name studies shows us how Anglo-Saxon villages worked, in ways that have never been attempted before. Everyone in the future will have to start with this pathbreaking work.”

—Chris Wickham, author of Medieval Europe

Building Anglo-Saxon England

This beautifully illustrated book draws on the latest archaeological discoveries to present a radical reappraisal of the Anglo-Saxon built environment and its inhabitants. John Blair, one of the world’s leading experts on this transformative era in England’s early history, explains the origins of towns, manor houses, and castles in a completely new way, and sheds new light on the important functions of buildings and settlements in shaping people’s lives during the age of the Venerable Bede and King Alfred.

JOHN BLAIR is Professor of Medieval History and Archaeology at the University of Oxford and Fellow in History at The Queen’s College.

“A remarkable piece of writing that will have an enduring influence. With shrewd and canny insights, powerful prose, and wit, Richard Rex offers a persuasive and provocative tour through the early years of the Reformation.”

—Bruce Gordon, author of John Calvin’s “Institutes of the Christian Religion”: A Biography

The Making of Martin Luther

The Making of Martin Luther takes a provocative look at the intellectual emergence of one of the most original and influential minds of the sixteenth century. Richard Rex traces how, in a concentrated burst of creative energy in the few years surrounding his excommunication by Pope Leo X in 1521, this lecturer at an obscure German university developed a startling new interpretation of the Christian faith that brought to an end the dominance of the Catholic Church in Europe.

RICHARD REX is professor of Reformation history at the University of Cambridge and a fellow of Queens’ College. His books include Tudors: The Illustrated History.

“A new history of the late medieval church in England, this brilliant book is a rare beast, grounded in extensive theoretical and empirical research. A masterpiece of historical thinking, it will be widely influential.”

—Frances Andrews, University of St Andrews

Trustworthy Men How Inequality and Faith Made the Medieval Church

The medieval church was founded on and governed by concepts of faith and trust—but not in the way that is popularly assumed. Offering a radical new interpretation of the institutional church and its social consequences in England, Ian Forrest argues that between 1200 and 1500 the ability of bishops to govern depended on the cooperation of local people known as trustworthy men and shows how the combination of inequality and faith helped make the medieval church.

IAN FORREST is fellow and tutor in history at Oriiel College, University of Oxford. He is the author of The Detection of Heresy in Late Medieval England.
