In intellectual and political culture today, the Enlightenment is routinely celebrated as the starting point of modernity and secular rationalism, or demozoned as the source of a godless liberalism in conflict with religious faith. In The Religious Enlightenment, David Sorkin alters our understanding by showing that the Enlightenment, at its heart, was religious in nature.

Sorkin examines the lives and ideas of influential Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic theologians of the Enlightenment. He demonstrates that, in the century before the French Revolution, the major Enlightenment thinkers adopted an understanding by showing that the Enlightenment, at its heart, was religious in nature.
Forthcoming

Ernst Cassirer
The Last Philosopher of Culture
EdwardSkidelsky
 SKIPED
“Skidelsky’s study of one of the great neglected twentieth-century theorists of culture and politics is welcome and timely.” —John Gray, University of London
This is the first English-language intellectual biography of the German-Jewish philosopher Ernst Cassirer (1874–1945), a leading figure on the Weimar intellectual scene and one of the few finest representatives of the liberal idealist tradition. Edward Skidelsky traces the development of Cassirer’s thought in its historical and intellectual setting. He presents Cassirer, the author of The Philosophy of Symbols of Form, as a defender of the liberal ideal of culture in an increasingly fragmented world, and as someone who grappled with the opposing forces of scientific positivism and romantic vitalism.
Edward Skidelsky is lecturer in philosophy at the University of Exeter, and a regular contributor to the Daily Telegraph and a regular contributor to philosophy at the University of

Forthcoming

Pontius Pilate, Anti-Semitism, and the Passion in Medieval Art
Column Houriha ne
“Cassirer (1874–1945), a leading German-Jewish philosopher, and his works have been influential in the fields of philosophy, art history, and cultural studies. This is the first comprehensive biography of Cassirer, covering his life and work in detail.” —Debra Higgs Strickland, Princeton University.

Forthcoming

The Parting of the Sea
How Volcanoes, Earthquakes, and Plagues Shaped the Story of Exodus
Barbara J. Sivertsen
“Sivertsen’s book is a masterpiece of historical and scientific detective work. She has traced the story of the Exodus through the lens of the earth sciences, revealing the complex interplay of natural and human forces that shaped this ancient event.” —John Gray, University of London

Forthcoming

In Spite of Partition
Jews, Arabs, and the Limits of Separatist Imaginaries
Gil Z. Hochberg
Translation/Translation
“Hochberg’s book is a deeply insightful exploration of the complex relationship between Jews and Arabs in the Middle East. He argues that the concept of partition has failed to address the underlying conflicts and tensions between the two communities.” —Paul Mendes-Flohr, University of Chicago

Forthcoming

Concealment and Revelation
Esotericism in Jewish Thought and its Philosophical Implications
Moshe Halbertal
Translated by Jackie Feldman
“Halbertal’s book is a groundbreaking exploration of the role of esoteric thought in Jewish philosophy. He argues that Jewish esotericism has been underestimated in the history of ideas.” —Steven Aschheim, University of California, Los Angeles

Forthcoming

Enlightenment in the Colony
The Jewish Question and the Crisis of Postcolonial Culture
Aamir R. Mufti
“Mufti’s book is a thought-provoking analysis of the role of Jewish thought in the enlightenment movement. He argues that the crisis of postcolonial culture is a continuation of the enlightenment project.” —Steven Aschheim, University of California, Los Angeles

Forthcoming

Jesus in the Talmud
Peter Schäfer
“Schäfer’s book is a groundbreaking study of the role of Jesus in the Talmud. He argues that the Talmud contains a complex and nuanced understanding of Jesus.” —Debra Higgs Strickland, Princeton University

Greece—a Jewish History
K. E. Fleming
“Fleming’s book is a comprehensive and engaging exploration of the Jewish presence in Greek society from the Hellenistic period to the modern era. It is a valuable book both about the history of Greek Jewry and the study of Jewish studies.” —Steven Aschheim, University of California, Los Angeles

Erased
Vanishing Traces of Jewish Galicia in Present-Day Ukraine
Omer Bartov
“This book is an often brilliant and impassioned response to the annihilation of memory in the last traces of the Jews who lived for generations in the Ukraine. It is a valuable book both about the destruction of the past and an attempt to preserve memory into the future.” —Jewish Book World

How to Cure a Fanatic
Amos Oz
“The most important book of Oz’s career. It is a scathing and sometimes achingly honest examination of the problem of fanaticism and the role of the individual in combating it.” —Library Journal

Beyond the Border
The German-Jewish Legacy Abroad
Steven E. Aschheim
“This volume of essays is vintage Steven Aschheim: a sweeping elucidation animated by expository verve and sparkling insights.” —Paul Mendes-Flohr, University of Chicago

January 2009

304 pages.
316 x 234 mm.
$35.00 / £21.95

March 2009

160 pages.
$25.00 / £15.95

June 2009

208 pages.
$22.95 / £13.50

February 2009

488 pages.
$57.50 / £34.95

April 2009

256 pages.
$29.95 / £17.95

May 2009

232 pages.
$35.00 / £21.95

November 2008

432 pages.
$60.00 / £34.95

April 2009

208 pages.
$19.95

September 2008

288 pages.
$30.00 / £18.95

To receive notices about new books, subscribe for email at: press.princeton.edu/subscribe
New

A History of Palestine
From the Ottoman Conquest to the Founding of the State of Israel
Gudrun Krämer
Translated by Graham Harman & Gudrun Krämer

“The 400 years before the founding of the Jewish state is a historiographical minefield, but Krämer, a professor of Islamic studies at Free University Berlin, manages to produce an illuminating survey of the terrain…. Krämer’s fluent narrative pairs a much-needed focus on facts—including useful data on contentious issues of population growth and land ownership—with an evenhanded avoidance of partisanship.”
—Publishers Weekly

It is impossible to understand Palestine today without a careful reading of its distant and recent past. But until now there has been no single volume in English that tells the history of the events—from the Ottoman Empire to the mid-twentieth century—that shaped modern Palestine. The first book of its kind, A History of Palestine offers a richly detailed interpretation of this critical region’s evolution.

Focusing on the interactions of Arabs and Jews, A History of Palestine tells how these connections affected the cultural and political evolution of each community and Palestine as a whole.

Gudrun Krämer is professor of Islamic studies at Free University Berlin and a member of the Berlin-Brandenburg Academy of Sciences.

2008. 376 pages. 14 halftones. 5 tables. 8 maps.
Cl: 978-0-691-11897-0 $35.00 | £19.95

Forthcoming Paperback

One of Choice’s Outstanding Academic Titles for 2007

The Ladder of Jacob
Ancient Interpretations of the Biblical Story of Jacob and His Children
James L. Kugel

“The Ladder of Jacob is one of the most readable and attractive introductions to the general style of traditional Jewish reasoning from Scripture. It captures the strange combination of playfulness with deadly seriousness that characterizes this exegetical tradition.”
—John Baron, Times Literary Supplement

“Whether discussing Reuben’s sin with Bilhah or the priesthood of Levi or Judah and Tamar, Mr. Kugel moves easily from moral dilemmas to textual enigmas.”
—Eric Ormsby, New York Sun

“Biblical scholar Kugel offers an in-depth study of some of the more difficult stories of Jacob and Jacob’s family…. [A]ny biblical researcher can profit from understanding the questions raised by these texts and analyzing the answers they provide.”
—Library Journal

James L. Kugel is director of the Institute for the History of the Jewish Bible at Bar-Ilan University in Israel, where he also serves as professor of Bible.

May 2009. 320 pages.
Pa: 978-0-691-14123-7 $16.95 | £9.95
Cl: 978-0-691-12122-2 $24.95 | £14.95

New Paperback

National Jewish Honor Book in Jewish History
With a new introduction and afterword by the author

Under Crescent and Cross
The Jews in the Middle Ages
Mark R. Cohen

“[A]n important … book…. Cohen’s argument is buttressed with an impressive range of evidence drawn from both Jewish and non-Jewish sources in the Islamic and Christian worlds.”
—David Wasserstein, Times Literary Supplement

“Mark R. Cohen has crafted a work that is fascinating in detail and provocative in analysis.”
—Frederic Krome, Speculum

Mark R. Cohen is professor of Near Eastern studies at Princeton University.

2008. 320 pages.
Pa: 978-0-691-13931-9 $24.95 | £14.95

Also by Mark R. Cohen

Runner-up, 2005 National Jewish Book Award in History, Jewish Book Council

Poverty and Charity in the Jewish Community of Medieval Egypt

2005. 304 pages. 2 halftones.
Cl: 978-0-691-09271-3 $44.95 | £26.95

The Voice of the Poor in the Middle Ages
An Anthology of Documents from the Cairo Geniza

2005. 240 pages. 8 halftones.
Pa: 978-0-691-09271-3 $27.95 | £16.95

press.princeton.edu
New Paperback
Winner of the 2008 Sami Rohr Prize for Jewish Literature Choice Award, Jewish Book Council
Winner of the 2006 Theodore Saloutos Prize, Immigration and Ethnic History Society
Co-winner, 2005–2006 Saul Viener Book Prize, American Jewish Historical Society
Finalist, 2006 National Jewish Book Award in American Jewish Studies, Jewish Book Council

The Price of Whiteness
Jews, Race, and American Identity
Eric L. Goldstein

“A palimpsest layering institutional, communal, literary, religious, and visual materials, Goldstein’s study moves deftly and amusingly through periods and across cultural domains to show how the Jews came to describe themselves.”
—Elisa New, New Republic

“More than any other historian to date, Goldstein … shows the changing ways in which Jewish Americans themselves argued either for their own racial particularity, or for their inclusions as whites, or for both.”
—David Roediger, Chronicle of Higher Education

Eric L. Goldstein is associate professor of history and Jewish studies at Emory University.

2008. 320 pages. 25 halftones.
Pa: 978-0-691-13631-8 $19.95 | £11.95
Cl: 978-0-691-12105-5 $39.95 | £23.95

New Paperback

Philip Roth’s Rude Truth
The Art of Immaturity
Ross Posnock

“A sophisticated, original vision… Highly recommended.”
—Choice

“Crisply written, well argued, and persuasive. Reading it, one looks forward to reading Roth again, in Posnock’s new light.”
—Chanan Tigay, Forward

“Posnock’s study may be the most intellectually complex as well as fiercely independent study of Roth’s career to date. Filled with deft observations, [Posnock] offers authoritative readings of literature and society which have profound implications that exceed considerations of Roth, its ostensible solitary subject.”
—Ranen Omer-Sherman, Modernism/Modernity

Ross Posnock is professor of English at Columbia University, where he also teaches American studies.

Pa: 978-0-691-13843-5 $19.95 | £11.95
Cl: 978-0-691-11604-4 $29.95 | £17.95

Forthcoming Paperback

Runner-up, 2006 National Jewish Book Award in Modern Jewish Thought, Jewish Book Council
One of Choice’s Outstanding Academic Titles for 2007

Call It English
The Languages of Jewish American Literature
Hana Wirth-Nesher

 “[An] invigorating book…. This is not just … about the Jewish American experience, but about how and why we all relate to language.”
—Samantha Ellis, Times Literary Supplement

“No book traces the stories of Jewish sound, voice, tone, pun, metaphor, name, prayer, and sacred syllable with such consistency and brilliance.”
—Choice

 “[A] deeply informed and provocative attempt to explain the uniqueness of Jewish American multilingualism, and as such, it should be required reading for anyone teaching a course on Jewish American literature.”
—Steven Fink, American Jewish History

Hana Wirth-Nesher is the Samuel L. and Perry Haber Chair on the Study of the Jewish Experience in the United States, Professor of English, and head of the Goldreich Family Institute for Yiddish Language, Literature, and Culture at Tel Aviv University.

2008. 216 pages. 7 halftones. 1 table. 2 maps.
Pa: 978-0-691-14107-7 $12.95 | £7.95
Cl: 978-0-691-13124-5 $16.95 | £9.95

To receive notices about new books, subscribe for email at: press.princeton.edu/subscribe
New Statesman, the British national press, including romantic vitalism. forces of scientific positivism and who grappled with the opposing fragmented world, and as someone, as a defender of the liberal historical and intellectual setting.

This is the first English-language intellectual biography of the last great neglected twentieth-century intellectual and finest representatives of the intellectual scene and one of the last intellectual biography of the.

"Skidelsky's study of one of the great thinkers of our time is a presence that will not be easily forgotten. The Last Philosopher is a welcome and timely. "

"The book is a treasure trove, a labour of love and exceptional erudition, which will open up to the reader a world of poetry and culture as rich as anything in human civilization." —Time Literary Supplement

"This is the first English-language intellectual biography of the last great neglected twentieth-century intellectual and finest representatives of the intellectual scene and one of the last intellectual biography of the."

In the medieval period, Inquisition records, and contemporaneous visual and textual representations of Pilate developed for political and religious purposes, turning him into a political puppet.

"This is the first English-language intellectual biography of the last great neglected twentieth-century intellectual and finest representatives of the intellectual scene and one of the last intellectual biography of the."

"Pilate is considered one of the Bible's best-known villains—but up until the tenth century, artistic imagery appears to have consistently portrayed him as a benevolent Christian and holy symbol of baptism. For the first time, Pontius Pilate, Anti-Semitism, and the Passion in Medieval Art provides a complete look at the shifting visual and textual representations of Pilate throughout early Christian and medieval art. Column Hourihane examines neglected and sometimes sympathetic portrayals, and shows that negative characterizations of Pilate developed for political and religious purposes, turning him into a symbol of anti-Semitism in the medieval period.

Pilate Hourihane is director of the Index of Christian Art in the Department of Art and Archaeology at Princeton University.

"This is the first English-language intellectual biography of the last great neglected twentieth-century intellectual and finest representatives of the intellectual scene and one of the last intellectual biography of the."

The Maranos were former Jews who converted to Christianity in Spain and Portugal, and their later descendants. Despite economic and some political advancement, these “Conversos” suffered social stigma and were persecuted by the Inquisition. In this unconventional history, Yirmiyahu Yovel tells their fascinating story and reflects on what it means for modern forms of identity.

Drawing on historical studies, Inquisition records, and contemporaneous poems, novels, treatments, and other writings, this engaging critical history of the Maranos experience is also a profound meditation on dual identities and the birth of modernity.

Yirmiyahu Yovel is the Hans Jonas Professor of Philosophy at the New School for Social Research and chairman of the Jerusalem Spinoza Institute.

"This is the first English-language intellectual biography of the last great neglected twentieth-century intellectual and finest representatives of the intellectual scene and one of the last intellectual biography of the."

For over four decades, biblical experts have tried placing the story of Exodus into a historical context—without success. What could explain the Nile turning to blood, insects swarming the land, and the sky falling to darkness? Integrating biblical accounts with substantive archaeological evidence, The Parting of the Sea looks at how natural phenomena shaped the stories of Exodus, the Sojourn in the Wilderness, and the Israelite conquest of Canaan.

Barbara J. Sivertsen has been managing editor of the Journal of Geology for over twenty-five years.

For more than twenty-five years, Barbara J. Sivertsen has been managing editor of the Journal of Geology for over twenty-five years.
New

The Religious Enlightenment
Protestants, Jews, and Catholics from London to Vienna
David Sorkin

“Powerfully cogent. Sorkin seeks to show that the religious Enlightenment was not a contradiction in terms but was an integral and central part of the Enlightenment.”
—Tim Blanning, University of Cambridge

In intellectual and political culture today, the Enlightenment is routinely celebrated as the starting point of modernity and secular rationalism, or demonized as the source of a godless liberalism in conflict with religious faith. In The Religious Enlightenment, David Sorkin alters our understanding by showing that the Enlightenment, at its heart, was religious in nature.

Sorkin examines the lives and ideas of influential Protestant, Jewish, and Catholic theologians of the Enlightenment: He demonstrates that, in the century before the French Revolution, the major religions of Europe gave rise to movements that would long outlast the Enlightenment.

The book’s arguments challenge a widely accepted account of the Enlightenment as a period of secularization. Rather, Sorkin argues, the religious Enlightenment was a dynamic period of intellectual innovation and religious renewal that bridged the religious and secular worlds of the Enlightenment.

Sorkin’s book is a broad and compelling survey of religious culture in the early modern period. It offers a fresh and nuanced perspective on the religious and intellectual history of this transformative era.

New

Reckless Rites
Purim and the Legacy of Jewish Violence
Elliott Horowitz

“Elliott Horowitz’s learned, humane, and exciting book will rattle many platitudes and disturb many pieves. Purim will never be quite the same; and the complications that Horowitz introduces into the history of Jewish self-representation will be ferociously debated for many years to come.”
—Leon Wieseltier

Elliott Horowitz is associate professor of Jewish history at Bar-Ilan University in Israel.

Winner of the 2002 Award for Best Professional/Scholarly Book in Religion, Association of American Publishers

Mirror of His Beauty
Feminine Images of God from the Bible to the Early Kabbalah
Peter Schäfer

“Elliott Horowitz’s learned, humane, and exciting
book will rattle many platitudes and disturb many pieves. Purim will never be quite the same; and the complications that Horowitz introduces into
the history of Jewish self-representation will be
ferociously debated for many years to come.”
—Leon Wieseltier

Winner of the 2005 Koret Jewish Book Award in History, Koret Foundation

Forthcoming

Living Together, Living Apart
Rethinking Jewish-Christian Relations in the Middle Ages
Jonathan Elukin

“Instead of emphasizing the conflicts between Christians and Jews, Elukin shows how deeply interconnected the two groups were in their everyday lives.”
—Jewish Book World

2007. 208 pages. C0 978-0-691-11487-3 $25.95 | £16.00

Resisting History
Hisorism and Its Discontents
David N. Myers

“David N. Myers is a brilliant historian who has written a wonderful book. The introduction is excellent and well written, and the texts are absolutely fascinating—in some cases even delightful and funny to read.
Goldish has really hit the mark with this book.”
—Mark Cohen, Princeton University

In Jewish Questions, Matt Goldish introduces English readers to the history and culture of the Sephardic dispersion through an exploration of forty three respona—questions about Jewish law that Jews asked leading rabbis, and the rabbits’ responses. The questions along with their rabbinical decisions examine all aspects of Jewish life, including business, family, religious issues, and relations between Jews and non-Jews. Taken together, the respona constitute an extremely rich source of information about the everyday lives of Sephardic Jews.

Matt Goldish is the Samuel M. and Esther Melton Professor of Jewish Studies and professor of history at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

2009. 256 pages. C0 978-0-691-13670-7 $29.95 | £17.95

New

Jewish Questions
Responsa on Sephardic Life in the Early Modern Period
Matt Goldish

“God interrupted is a work of an unusual talent.
The analysis is brilliant, virtually each page sparkles with novel insights.”
—Paul Mendes-Flohr, University of Chicago

Could the best thing about religion be the her-eities it spawns? Leading intellectuals in interwar Europe thought so. They believed that they lived in a world made drylic by God’s absence and the interruption of his call. In response, they helped resurrect gnosticism and pantheism, the two most potent challenges to the monotheistic tradition. In God Interrupted, Benjamin Lazer tracks the ensuing debates about the divine across confessions and disciplines. He also traces the surprising affinities of these debates in postwar arguments about the environment, neorevisionist politics, and heretical forms of Jewish identity. In lively, elegant prose, the book recounts the intellectual history of the era.

Benjamin Lazer is assistant professor of history and humanities at Reed College. He is a recipient of the 2008 John Templeton Award for Theological Promise.

February 2009. 296 pages. C0 978-0-691-13299-7 $29.95 | £17.95

Forthcoming

God Interrupted
Heresy and the European Imagination Between the World Wars
Benjamin Lazer