TABLE OF CONTENTS

LIST OF PLATES       XV
TABLE OF TRANSLITERATION     xix
PREFACE        XXI
INTRODUCTION TO THE PRINCETON CLASSICS EDITION     xxix

1

THE BACKGROUND OF THE SABBATIAN MOVEMENT     1

i  Historical and sociological explanations of the Sabbatian movement and their deficiencies     1

ii Messianism in Jewish history and its two conflicting tendencies: the catastrophic-utopian and the rationalistic forms     8

iii The messianic idea in the kabbalah     15

iv Lurianic kabbalah and its myth of exile and redemption     22

v The historical role and social significance of Lurianic kabbalah     44
vi The spread of Lurianic kabbalah until 1665 66 vii Kabbalism in Poland. The messianic expectations for the year 1648. Contemporary reactions to the great massacres of that year 77
viii Utopian messianism in Christianity: chiliasm and millenarian movements 93

2

THE BEGINNINGS OF SABBATAI ŞEVI (1626–1664) 103
i Sabbatai’s origins and youth. His kabbalistic studies and his “Mystery of the Godhead” 103
ii The sickness of Sabbatai Şevi: its nature and significance 125
iii Sabbatai’s first “manifestation” and his banishment from Smyrna 138 iv His wanderings in Turkey. Abraham Yakhini and David Habillo 152
v Sabbathi Şevi in Jerusalem 177
vi His sojourn in Jerusalem and mission to Egypt. His marriage to Sarah (1664–65) 180

3

THE BEGINNINGS OF THE MOVEMENT
IN PALESTINE (1665) 199
i Abraham Nathan Ashkenazi and his prophetic experience. Sabbatai’s return from Egypt to Gaza. The great prophetic revelation and messianic illumination in May, 1665 199 ii The apocalypse The Vision of R. Abraham 223
iii Sabbathi Şevi in Gaza and his excommunication by the rabbis of Jerusalem 233 iv Sabbatai’s travels through Safed and Aleppo to Smyrna. The messianic agitation in Gaza after Sabbatai’s departure 251

For general queries, contact webmaster@press.princeton.edu
TABLE OF CONTENTS

v The prophet Nathan’s letter to the chelebi Raphael Joseph in Egypt. Significance of the letter 267
vi Nathan’s penitential tracts 290
vii Nathan’s Treatise on the Dragons and its principal doctrines 297

4
THE MOVEMENT UP TO SABBATAI’S IMPRISONMENT IN GALLIPOLI
(1665–1666) 327

i The spread of the first reports from Gaza and Egypt. The silence of the opponents 327
ii Rumors of conquests by the armies of the Ten Tribes in Persia, Arabia, and North Africa 332
iii The movement in Palestine after Sabbatai’s departure (from autumn, 1665, to early spring, 1666) 354
iv The movement in Smyrna until December, 1665 371
v Sabbatai gains control over the community in Smyrna. The events of December, 1665 389 vi Mass prophecy, and the appointment of kings by the messiah. Sabbatai’s departure for Constantinople 417 vii The movement in Constantinople. The prophet Moses Suriel (or Saraval). Sabbatai’s imprisonment in Constantinople (February–April, 1666) and his removal to Gallipoli 433

5
THE MOVEMENT IN EUROPE (1666) 461

i Conditions and factors making for the success and spread of the movement. General description of the penitential awakening 461
TABLE OF CONTENTS

π Italy. Allegations regarding a “reign of terror” in the Italian communities 477
iii Amsterdam 518
iv The Jewish communities in the German lands 546
v Hamburg. Jacob Sasportas and his Sīṣath Nobel Şevi. Moses Abudiente and his Fin de los Dias 566
vi Poland 591

6 THE MOVEMENT IN THE EAST AND THE CENTER IN GALLIPOLI UNTIL SABBATAI’S APOSTASY (1666) 603

i Sabbatai Şevi in Gallipoli (“the Tower of Strength”) during the months May–July, 1666 603 ii New festivals and the abolition of traditional fasts. The visit of the Polish emissaries 613 iii The spread of the movement in Turkey, Egypt, and North Africa. Abraham Miguel Cardozo 633
iv The movement in Yemen 651
v Nehemiah Kohen and his visit to Sabbatai Şevi 658
vi Complaints to the Turkish authorities regarding an alleged Jewish revolt. Sabbatai’s appearance before the sultan and his apostasy in September, 1666 668

7 AFTER THE APOSTASY (1667–1668) 687

i The effects of the apostasy on believers and unbelievers. The crisis of faith 687
ii The rabbis of Constantinople attempt to calm the public 693
TABLE OF CONTENTS

III Nathan's departure from Palestine. Steps by the rabbis of Constantinople against Nathan and the Sabbatian believers 705
IV Nathan's travels in Asia Minor and his attempts to meet Sabbatai in Adrianople. Sabbatai Şevi during 1667. Nathan's travels in Greece 718
V "Believers" and "infidels" after the apostasy in Europe, especially in Italy and Holland 749
VI Nathan's journey to Italy in 1668. His examination by the rabbinic court at Venice and his mystical mission to Rome. His return to the Balkans and residence in Kastoria 764
VII The prophet Sabbatai Raphael and his travels in Europe 781
VIII The theology of the Sabbatian believers after the apostasy 792
IX The doctrine of the apostate messiah and of the significance of the Law according to the writings of Nathan of Gaza 802
X The letter Magen Abraham by Abraham Miguel Cardozo 814

8

THE LAST YEARS OF SABBATAI ŞEVİ
(1668–1676) 821

Ⅰ The consolidation of the Sabbatian group in Adrianople 821
Ⅱ The revelations of the year 1668 and the tract The Testimony of the Faith. Sabbatai Şevi and his circle until 1672 828
Ⅲ The doctrines of the Sabbatian circle. Israel Ḥazzan's commentary on the Psalms 856
Ⅳ The imprisonment and trial of Sabbatai Şevi in 1672 872 Ⅴ Sabbatai's banishment to Dulcigno. The messianic revival in the years 1674–75 in Amsterdam and in North Africa 882 vi Sabbatai’s last years. His “Mystery of the Godhead” and the tract The Mystery of the Faith 899 vii The deaths of Sabbatai and of the prophet Nathan 914

BIBLIOGRAPHY 931
INDEX 957